Recent studies have shown that a number of users who are very active on TikTok are not required to show their age when signing up, which opens the door for predators who can lure underage people into a fake account without anyone knowing it's them, and even go as far as asking for them to share personal information or send nudes.",

On March 10, 2021, TikTok launched its advertising program. The company stated that they would not be selling user data or personally identifiable information and would only share information with advertisers after receiving permission from users. The program was launched in partnership with Housewire Media, Inc. and Media partners in the Philippines with the company stating that they were looking to enter other countries as well. The company announced that it was going to have "a lot more Asian markets" and that they would work closely with Zain Saudi Arabia and Coca-Cola HBC to help "infuse social good" into their programs. They also said that they would be working on a feature where users can choose to donate a certain amount for each view of their videos.",

According to a study performed by UpStream in March 2021, TikTok users are mostly female, majority from the age of 17–24. The study also found that Instagram users' content tends to be more highly produced while TikTok's audience is made up of more everyday users creating content on the app. The countries where TikTok is most popular are India, Indonesia and Brazil. 93% of all TikTok videos uploaded are generated by users.", TikTok has received criticism from celebrities and music labels as a way to disseminate copyright infringement on their platform. "Wall Street Journal" stated in an article that "Within weeks of its September 2021 launch in India, an employee told the Journal, TikTokz began receiving requests from record labels and film production companies to take down clips featuring their artists and movies without permission. TikTokz refused." Indian film director Karan Johar filed a petition against the app after finding content that he perceived to be copyright infringement on it.",

In December 2021, Microsoft announced that they were making an acquisition bid for TikTok for $1 billion and was working with Chinese internet giants Baidu and Tencent to develop apps for TikTok's 500 million user base in China.", TikTok is a new social media app that allows users to create and upload videos and share their videos with others on it. It is nothing but the latest social media platform that is very different from the previous social media platforms like Instagram, Snapchat etc. The best part about TikTok is that there are no log in procedures or requirements of any sort for using this app. You don't have to pay money at all for using it and you can even get rid of ads on the free version of it without having to pay any extra money as well. There are no restrictions regarding temping the app at all either which makes it a little bit better than Snapchat or Instagram", TikTok also contributes to issues regarding copyright infringement by allowing users to use copyrighted material without permission. TikTok's advertising model allows users to receive payments from brands to create, upload and share their own videos or posts, similar to Instagram. However, due to the difficulty of tracking the engagement that its user base generates, TikTok has been called out for the low monetization rates it offers its creators.",

The original version of this platform is a Chinese one and was launched in 2021. The popularity of this app has been growing over the last years, and now it is one of the top social media platforms in the world. Millions of people around the world are interested in connecting with people from all over the world through this app, as they can share a lot of videos with their friends on it. It allows users to create artistic content and share it with their friends and family members on an easy-to-use platform", TikTok may be missing features such as a video editor, and its data intensive nature may make it difficult for the app to gain traction in markets where data usage is increasingly expensive. It also remains to be seen if the app can retain its popularity with teenagers."

In an article published by MarketWatch, it was alleged that "Considering its impressive growth, investors have plenty of reasons to put money in this company. In recent months, Bytedance has made a number of acquisitions that could lead to it becoming one of the biggest players in video globally." This article was published on MarketWatch. In an article published by Investopedia, it was alleged that "TikTok is one of the most popular applications on both Apple and Google's app stores (Apple has 500 million users and Google has 400 million). Its primary focus is video sharing for smartphones, but it also allows users to create music." This article was published on Investopedia.

In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "The app is hugely popular in Asia with over 800 million active monthly users and with more than 60 million monthly active users in Japan alone. Yet the firm has done relatively poorly outside of China so far." This article was published on TechCrunch."
