People on ROBLOX are sometimes known to come up with their own language called "Robloxian", which is basically like a mix between English and gibberish. It is not really considered its own language because it's too simple and doesn't have any official dialects or countries.

The next time you log into your Roblox account, it is recommended that you take a moment and really think about what information and/or games can be accessed by the hacker. If this is not enough, start using anti-virus software to look over your computer for any unauthorized programs installed on the system. Never share personal information with any website that requires it, especially when it contains your email address.

Who would want to play a game like this? Nobody really I would think. It's just like Roblox in that you can buy stuff with fake money, but there is no value in either one of them. The real issue is that the developer(s) of both games are making a ton of money from people who don't care about winning or losing, they just want to have fun.

In late 2015, ROBLOX introduced ChatPads. These ChatPads function like keyboards for players with a webcam. The players can use a webcam to talk with each other as well as guests while playing the game. However, there are no audio chat functions. One feature of the new chatpads is that if you lock your screen when playing game, it will automatically unlock when you tab out from games to bring up your keyboard and chatpad features.

On September 5th 2018, ROBLOX targeted a large amount of its users by adding in-game ads on most games for free. Players would be given an ad in the bottom right corner of their screen with the option of clicking it to see more games. This is very similar to how Facebook and Google ads work, however, the Roblox ads cannot be clicked on and are only meant as a distraction. Users would need to leave the game before seeing the ad again or wait until they lose interest in playing any other game. The new system was rolled out in large parts making users question ROBLOX's integrity as a company.
