Many games on Roblox are online multiplayer games. These games require an internet connection to play and players earn virtual currencies. These currencies may be used to purchase premium features or clothing, which can not be obtained in game. Players can purchase these premium features using real currency such as iTunes or Google Play credit. A key feature of this application is that it allows the users to earn free Robux through online ads and offers, and then use those free Robux for in-game currency in many popular games on Roblox such as Roleplay World or Math Trade Schools .

ROBLOX's Terms of Service has many loopholes which allows users to get away with nearly anything, such as selling products that have been stolen from other users or using bots for their own gain. The system is also very inconsistent in how it deals with complaints and bans. One of the more infamous examples is user "Sephiroth", who had been banned for attempting to distribute his game, "TitanMC". The ban was eventually lifted, and the account became widely regarded as a joke.[11]

Implementing technology such as Oculus Rift and PlayStation VR would allow the company to create new VR games. Again, ROBLOX has been criticized due to its unusual (less than the minimum) end user license agreement. Roblox has released a new version of its app called Ava (ROBLOX's Mobile Application). See above section for more details.

On July 27th, 2018, ROBLOX announced that they were going to be having an "open beta" of a new in-game currency system that would allow users to buy and sell virtual currency. This feature was added to the site in 2015, but this was the first time that it was open to everyone. This new system came with a "Queueing" system similar to YouTube's order form, which many game creators saw as useful in saving time from waiting for transactions manually. Users can still trade with each other if they wish to do so.[23]

On September 22nd, 2012, a head developer from the website Games Done Quick sent a cease and desist letter to Roblox because they were using code that he had created without permission. This is one of the few situations where ROBLOX has deleted all of its assets to avoid legal issues.
