ROBLOX's Terms of Service has many loopholes which allows users to get away with nearly anything, such as selling products that have been stolen from other users or using bots for their own gain. The system is also very inconsistent in how it deals with complaints and bans. One of the more infamous examples is user "Sephiroth", who had been banned for attempting to distribute his game, "TitanMC". The ban was eventually lifted, and the account became widely regarded as a joke.[11]

On August 28th, 2019 ROBLOX announced the discontinuation of ROBLOX Custom Physics in favor of Bloxlet. This will eventually be released as an update so that all games made for Classic ROBLOX mode will automatically have the new physics system in place, but there is an unknown future for what will happen to those games when the discontinuation happens.

On September 5th 2018, ROBLOX targeted a large amount of its users by adding in-game ads on most games for free. Players would be given an ad in the bottom right corner of their screen with the option of clicking it to see more games. This is very similar to how Facebook and Google ads work, however, the Roblox ads cannot be clicked on and are only meant as a distraction. Users would need to leave the game before seeing the ad again or wait until they lose interest in playing any other game. The new system was rolled out in large parts making users question ROBLOX's integrity as a company.

On November 1, 2015, Roblox was officially sued for copyright infringement by Joshua Moskowitz, also known as "Dr. J". The lawsuit was filed in Los Angeles Superior Court and details how parts of "The Maze Runner" were used to create a ROBLOX game called "The Maze." The lawsuit alleges that Dr. J is notifying every author use of his game engine to give them the opportunity to either take down their games or have a section added to his website.
