On August 6th 2018, Musical.ly announced that it would be releasing TikTok out of China due to "growing concerns over children's exposure to inappropriate content". The company stated that it was working with the Chinese government to find suitable replacement platforms to help its artists and users in the country.",

Another article published on Huffington Post reported that "The app's terms of service make clear that users are responsible for their own content and may be sued for copyright infringement. As TechCrunch notes, this is similar to YouTube's terms of service. It also warns users not to share personal information like credit card numbers or bank account details. However, the reporting section makes it unclear whether the app will take down content that could be illegal, or if users trying to report abusive content will be able to do so.",

As of September 2018, TikTok has reached over 200 million monthly active users on the iOS operating system with over 9 billion video views, 50 million daily users and over 1 billion likes daily. On February 27, 2018, Instagram announced that it would bring its "stories" format to TikTok on March 22 of the same year, allowing creators to place their content in Instagram's main feed. As a result, this feature will be available on iOS devices.",

In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "TikTok, one of the world's most popular apps, is slowly turning into a massive source of income for the company. It's not just making money from ads, but also recently started selling ad inventory to advertisers who bought a specific part of its user base." It continued by stating that "It has become so popular in terms of revenue that it is now its own third quarter and second-quarter closing numbers." This article was published on TechCrunch.",

In January 2016, the company launched an application that is designed for use with Sony Digital Audio Workstations (DAWs). The app allows users to make their own music videos shot with a DSLR camera. The feature was announced as a part of the company's "Music Story" feature that it unveiled in June 2015.",
